Le Savon D'Egypte صابون مصر

history

“For soap Ancient Egyptians used natron, swabu (derived from (s)wab meaning to clean), a paste containing ash or clay, which was often scented, and could be worked into a lather, 1500BC they mixed animal and vegetable oils with alkaline salts. The soap-like material was used for treating skin diseases, as well as for washing.

Throughout history, Soap has been the oldest cleanser around. It is created by a chemical reaction between oils, water and lye. Although lye is used to make soap there is no lye left after saponification (the chemical reaction that makes soap) is complete.. Different kinds of soap are made using a variety of different animal & plant.

Castile Soap Versus Commercial Chemical Soaps

Commercial soaps on the market are not soaps at all but detergent cakes, combinations of chemicals with catalysts and trace elements and are generally made from chemically extracted fatty acids reacted under high pressure to alkali. May contain petrochemicals, carcinogens, and allergens. Such as DEA, Isopropyl Alcohol, BHT, Triclosan (commonly found in anti-bacterial soap), sodium tallowate and parafin. These frequently cause severe skin irritations to sensitive skin and have been proven harmful to human health. Have you ever noticed how regular soap leaves your skin feeling dry, itchy and tight? Parafine, a common ingredient in soap is often the culprit because it gives a fake sensation of softness.

Le Savon D'Egypte (Nefertari Soaps) Natural Handmilled Soap – benefits Castile Soap

Alternatively, our soaps are made using a traditional Castile soap formula from the 19th century. When first starting our company we researched for the best possible soap recipe. We were looking for soap that would always be of a consistent high quality, and exceptional mildness, and gentleness. We also wanted a soap that would not be drying, that would be long lasting, and most importantly be an effective cleaning bar.

Le savon de L'Egypte vs most famous soaps of the world

After several visits to factories worldwide and thorough studies and analysis of their soap production, we can proudly announce the following differences:

1. The oils used worldwide to make soap comes from second and third pressings of the natural olive oil and even pressing the residues of the press to make use of the any remaining oil and to add the olive green colour to the final soap. The oil used for the production of Le Savon de L'Egypte however is obtained from the First pressing of pure olives in order to ensure its purity and that there are no residues.
2. Worldwide, natural soaps are made using 72% of vegetable oil basically olive oil or coconut oil, they then add lye and additional salts to the formula. Our soap is made of 100% olive oil and lye with absolutely no additives. The end result is simply the salt which is the soap.
3. The saponification process followed worldwide is much shorter. The final soap worldwide is only a partial part of the saponification process carried out at Nefertari.

At Nefertari, the basic soap is handmilled to make the soap noodles which enables the air to fully penetrate the soaps particles in order for the saponification process to be complete.

4. Famous soaps around the world is cooked on direct fire with a temperature of about 120 degree Celsius while at Nefertari, we cook our soap at a much lower temperature not surpassing 40 degrees Celsius in order to preserves the properties of the unbroken molecules of olive oil.

5. Worldwide, they walk over the large soap basin by foot in order to be cut the soap into large cubes by electricity cutters. At Nefertari soaps are gently cut by hand into small pieces in order to ensure its purity.

6. Handmade soaps worldwide once dry, still contain salts and water – as they add salts to the soap during the saponification process. Our soap is left to dry for 40 days on the shelves to make sure the water is all out and that what is left is purely 100% olive oil soap.

Castile Soap is made of 100% extra virgin Olive oil using the cold process method which maintains vitamins, minerals, enzymes and other nutrients present in the Olive oil plus the natural glycerin those results from saponification; these natural elements which are good for your skin. Moreover, All Nefertari soaps are all free from preservatives, coloring agents and artificial fragrances. Nefertari hand-milled soaps have an exceptional mildness, gentleness, are long-lasting and most importantly, are effective cleaning bars.

Le Savon D'Egypte and Community Development

Nefertari is strongly contributing to community Le Savon D'gypte and Community Development development by empowering local groups and marginalized communities inside Egypt (with special emphasis on women) by means of integrating them into skill development and income generating activities allowing them to meet their basic needs and sustain an acceptable level of living and thus improving their social development and expanding their opportunities. Nefertari is currently supporting several unprivileged Egyptian families (either directly or through cooperation with NGOs) located in Cairo as well as in other governorates reaching the New Valley and the western desert of Egypt in the Oasis of Siwa and Farafra.

Handmade Soap Is Good For Your Body

Evidence abounds of the healing properties of a handmade bar of soap. Those who suffer from skin conditions such as psoriasis and eczema, as well as people that have sensitive skin or are hypoallergenic often find immediate relief by switching to handmade soap. Compared to store bought soap, handmade soap is very mild. They are often made from vegetable-based oils, such as olive, coconut, and palm and do not contain the potentially harmful chemicals found in conventional bar soap.

For adults, the skin covers approximately 20 square feet of the human body. It is the largest human organ and is the bodies' first line of defense against dehydration, temperature, infection and harmful substances. Handmade soaps give your skin the care it deserves and make bathing a gentle, soothing experience.

Handmade Soap Is Good For Your Mind

For many of us today, life seems to move at an often hectic pace. While the stress of everyday life increases, personal time is at minimum. A fragrant, handmade bar of soap is a simple indulgence that fosters a feeling of relaxation and being pampered. Treat yourself or someone you love to the benefits of handmade soap!
